

Hadronisation and strangeness production in high energy collision

Prof. Paolo Castorina

Dipartimento di Fisica ed Astronomia, Università di Catania (Italia)

The role of strangeness production as signal of the deconfinement transition is discussed focusing on the thermalization and the hadronization dynamics. Different approaches based on scatterings in a hadron gas or at partonic level – where final hadrons are “born in equilibrium” – are considered.