

The discovery of pulsars - a graduate student's tale

Dame Susan Jocelyn Bell Burnell

Department of Physics, University of Oxford

In this talk I will describe how pulsars (pulsating radio sources) were accidentally discovered, outline the main properties of pulsars and also describe some instances when pulsars were 'nearly' discovered.